Mobile chemotherapy unit

The mobile chemotherapy unit benefits those patients who currently have to travel long distances for treatment at The Christie. It enables us to deliver the first class treatment and care for which The Christie is renowned, closer to patients homes throughout Greater Manchester.

The mobile unit is run by our Christie chemotherapy trained nurses to ensure that standards of care and safety are consistent with our main site. Each working day it travels to a different location around our region where our research demonstrates the need is greatest.

The facility has four treatment chairs and we are able to treat up to 16 patients per day. This means that around 80 patients per week save both precious time and travel costs by having their cancer treatment close to home.

Many standard chemotherapy treatments are suitable for treatment on the mobile unit. The suitability depends on the length of treatment time, types of drugs, complexity of the regimen and consultant approval.

If you are on a protocol cycle for your treatment, you must have your bloods taken two days before your treatment is due. Your bloods can be taken at Fairfield General Hospital; North Manchester Hospital or Rochdale Infirmary.

If you need your bloods taking before you attend the mobile unit, the nurses will give you a blood form and advise you when and where to attend.
